"Unionists" in the South.

Of all the absurd and unfounded notions existing in the North respecting the South, we know of none more prevalent and pernicious than the one so industriously circulated by Radical agents as to the personal dangers which Northern men of Union sentiments have to encounter in the South. Scarcely a day passes but some paragraph to this effect goes the round of the Radical press; and neither the counter-statements of Northern men who have during the past year been peacefully residing in the South, nor of the thousands who are constantly travelling there and returning, not only in safety, but impressed with the kindly treatment they receive, seem able to counteract this deeply rooted and ridiculous prejudice.

The latest thing of the kind we have noticed is in the Nation, in which somebody writing from the South—we know not which point is particularly alluded to—says: "No Northern man who has not lived here can possibly conceive at what peril a man utters a Union sentiment." Now, whatever amount of truth there may have been in such a statement immediately prior to the breaking out of the war, when every one was preparing for a death struggle in which friends had to be known from enemies, we are persuaded that, taking the whole Southern States in the aggregate as they exist to-day, a grosser and more indiscriminate libel was never penned against any people. It is entirely opposed to the testimony not only of all our own correspondents, travelling or residing in various parts of the South, but also of those of the New-York Times and other Republican journals, who have undertaken to give a fair and impartial view of Southern society, and whose means of knowing the people there should be at least equal to those of the writer in the Nation. This writer stultifies himself. If the so-called "Union" men of the South are in such large numbers, as the Radicals are so fond of asserting (whenever they have anything to gain by that line of argument), what a mean-spirited set they must be to refrain from freely speaking their opinions in the face of a minority. But some of them do speak their mind in the South, and pretty plainly, too, we imagine. Take Virginia, for instance, which may be fairly singled out as being the very heart of the late confederacy. Does not BOTTS write and talk plainly enough there what he thinks and feels? Does he not go far enough even to publicly denounce as traitors worthy of the gallows every one in his State who sided with her in the late war? Who does any harm or wishes to do any harm, to BOTTS, beyond hoping that he will kill and bury himself by continuing to write and speak as he does? Then, again, there are no less boisterous, but more insignificant spouters and defamers, like WARDWELL, HUNNICUTT, and others of that stamp—nameless creatures that somehow floated to the surface, like scum, from the seething cauldron of our late commotion. Who has ever done any harm to them? These men, hated as they are for taking an active part in every Radical attempt to outrage and vilify the people among whom they live, go on proclaiming from the house-tops negro suffrage and the social equality of the negro with the white man, with an earnestness that even WENDELL PHILLIPS himself could not surpass; and yet who molests them? WARDWELL's negro speech in Richmond, on the 4th of July last, was something so disgusting to the whole white population of the South, that it may very fairly be doubted if any Southern man could have stood up in Faneuil Hall and as freely given his opinion about New England fanaticism without being mobbed. Every one who has resided in the South since the close of the war knows that everywhere, and constantly, the most earnest discussions are to be heard between men of Northern and Southern sympathies, without any hindrance on either side to the fullest and freest expression of opinion.

If the writer in the Nation simply meant to say that brawling, ranting, aggressive fanatics, going South for the mere purpose of insulting everybody and abusing everything they meet, may get into personal trouble, we can easily understand and believe him. We presume that any one determined to get his skull cracked, by his own wilful and unwarrantable treatment of others, may succeed in getting the operation performed for him in the South, as well as any where else; but no decent men of ordinarily considerate behavior, be their politics of the most Radical stamp, run the risk of any incivility. Men who in mere civility "do unto others as they would they should do unto them," find themselves no more molested in the South than in any portion of the North. Where individual exceptions occur, they may be safely set down as the result of drunken brawls, which are liable to occur in one place as well as another, or may be traced to some Radical fanatic who denied the term "Unionist" to everybody but himself, and whose insolent bigotry and impudent intolerance first paved the way to a misunderstanding. Enmity toward Northern men, and especially toward the Union, is not the leading spirit of the South, we care not what a few firebrands among them may say or do to create a contrary opinion. They are simply like their friends and hate their enemies. If their friendship is slow, distrustful, and calculating, at first, toward all Northerners, it is but natural that it should be so—ours would be toward them, save that we are the more powerful; but, even when they cannot eagerly hold out the warm hand of fellowship, all trustworthy testimony goes to prove that they, at least, treat with kindness and respect all who go among them with the intention of meeting them in a similar spirit, no matter what their political opinions.—New York World.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE,

LOCATED IN AND ADJOINING THE TOWN OF WARRENTON, N. C.

FOR SALE.

The Warrenton Female College is now offered for sale, on reasonable terms. This College has been in successful operation, for over twelve years, and, during that time, it has earned a reputation as an Institution of learning, second to none in N. C.

The location is such as to warrant a full attendance of pupils, being very accessible from any point, especially the Eastern portions of N. C. and Va.

The Committee, who have been empowered to make sale of this property, deem it unnecessary to say more of this Institution as its character for a high grade of scholarship, and the elevated standard of morals inculcated, under the eye and supervision of its late President, E. E. Parham, is already well known.

The society in which this College is located is known to be equal to any in the South.

There is now a sufficiency of Buildings and other Conveniences attached to this Real Estate, to conduct a large and flourishing school. The premises contain about SIXTY ACRES of Land a material portion of which is within the Corporation. This, with all or a part of the furniture, &c., belonging to the same, can be purchased with the land and buildings. This property will be offered privately for sale until Wednesday the 3rd day October next, and, if not then sold, will be on that day sold, at public auction to the highest bidder.

The Committee are fully authorized to sell, and would say that a rare chance is offered to any party wishing to purchase such property, as time sufficient, if required, will be given. Possession given immediately.

Any person or party wishing to examine the property will be shown it by E. E. Parham, the present occupant, or by any one or more of the Committee.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, } Editors.
SEATON GALES. }

Monday Evening, August 6, 1866.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR,
JONATHAN WORTH,
OF RANDOLPH.

District Convention.

We are authorized, by Jones Fuller, Esq., President of the Convention for this Congressional District, to announce that the Convention will re-assemble in this City, on Friday next, the 10th. inst., for the purpose of appointing a delegate to the Philadelphia Convention, in place of the Hon. R. B. Gilliam, who will be prevented, by judicial duties, from attending.

The intervening time is short, but we hope that there will be a good attendance, as it is of importance that the District shall be fully represented.

The New York Tribune and the Richmond Dispatch.

The New York Tribune quotes a paragraph from the recent letter published in this and other papers in the State, relative to the amended Constitution, and which rumor has attributed to Judge Ruffin, and, in order to make its readers believe that the courts of the South are "keeping up the rebellion," asserts that the extract is from a decision which has just been rendered by the Supreme Court of North Carolina. This Richmond Dispatch has unwittingly fallen into the same grievous error, and publishes the extract in question under the heading of "a strange decision." We subjoin the paragraph referred to:

"I consider that this is no Constitution, because your Convention was not a legitimate Convention, and had no power to make a Constitution for us, or to alter that which we had and have. I object to the organization of your Convention because it was called without the consent of the people, by the President of the United States, or under his orders—an act of clear and despotic usurpation."

The letter in question was a private communication written to a member of the Convention, which the gentleman to whom it was addressed took the liberty of publishing. It originally appeared in the Wilmington Journal and was sent to us by a friend for insertion in our columns. We do not know, with certainty, who the author is, but, as we have stated, rumor ascribes it to Ex-Chief Justice Ruffin. However that may be, the opinions of the writer, as to the right of the President to call a Convention, in pursuance of his policy of restoration, are simply his individual opinions, and bind no one but himself. We have heretofore entered our dissent from his position as to the powers of the President, and we are quite sure that his views in this regard are those of only a small portion of the people of the State. They accept, with entire faith, the whole policy of the President, as wise and beneficent, and are not disposed to criticize his authority. Such a course would be alike unwise and ungrateful.

The broadest arraignment of the President, which we have yet seen in any quarter, is contained in the communication signed "P," published in the Radical organ of this city on the 2nd., wherein the writer, without dissent on the part of the Editors, is allowed to say that President Johnson's "whole proceeding in the matter of restoration is an usurpation not warranted by the Constitution!"

We repeat, what we have heretofore said, that the matter of "loyalty" or "disloyalty" has had no more to do with the consideration of the amended Constitution, and the action of the people thereon, than has the war in Europe. People either voted on it, on its merits, or as they may have questioned the authority of the Convention to adopt it, in that they had transcended the specific powers with which they were invested by the President. The latter consideration principally influenced the action of the masses. Those of them who voted against the Constitution did so upon the ground that the Convention was assuming functions and powers not warranted by the order of the President convening it, and for the additional reason that it was squandering the scanty means in the Treasury, with a prodigal hand, for no good or useful purpose.

If the Constitution is rejected, as is most probably the case, its defeat is solely and distinctly traceable to the popular odium attaching to the Convention, on account of its extravagant and unauthorized legislation. The people believed it to be an usurping body, in that it usurped powers not entrusted to it by the President or the people, and hence they repudiated its action, and would have nothing to do with it.

We shall send to the Tribune a marked copy of this article, in the hope that it will do the State justice in this important matter. However strong its prejudices, we cannot think that it will persist in misrepresentation, after an explanation of the facts.

GOLDSBORO NEWS.—Col. Stephen D. Pool has withdrawn from Editorial connection with this paper. We regret that ill-health, and other causes, compel Col. P. to sever his connection with the press, of which he was so worthy and useful a member. The publisher, Mr. Whitaker, says that he has secured the services, as Editor, of a gentleman favorably known to the public, who will keep up the character and interest of the News.

ATTENTION is called in the newspapers to the violation of the "Articles of War," by certain military officers, in constantly abusing and "speaking disrespectfully" of the President of the United States. Some of these military officials are getting to be noted for their abusive language.

Hon. T. L. Clingman is in Washington.

We take pleasure in stating, on the authority of those who are best qualified to know, that the refusal on the part of the Senate to confirm the nomination of ex-Governor Holden, of North Carolina, as Minister to San Salvador, proceeded from no distrust of his loyalty or fitness for the place; but that it was dictated solely by a regard to the existing laws and resolutions of Congress, under which the appointee could not have taken the office. The test oath, enacted in 1862, is a part of the public law of the land, and no man can enter upon the exercise of an office until he has taken and subscribed it in due form. The amendment to the Constitution recently proposed by Congress, though not yet ratified, would seem, nevertheless, to bind the body which proposes it, in morals at least, and that also excludes all who have in any way been compromised with the rebellion, until they shall have been relieved by a two-thirds vote of Congress. It is understood that Gov. Holden, though at no time in sympathy with the rebellion, was under a pressure of circumstances little short of duress, compelled to subscribe the ordinance of secession, as was the late venerable and distinguished Mr. Badger.—Washington Chronicle.

The reason assigned above by the Chronicle for the rejection of Mr. Holden, for the San Salvador mission, exhibits a consistency for the course of the Radicals which we have seen in no other instance. There are portions of the Constitution for which the Radicals seem still to have some respect, while there are other portions for which they have none. There are laws also in existence which they respect, especially those which violate the Constitution. So that it may be said, we have not yet arrived, in this country, fully up to the perfect democratic idea, that the will of majorities is absolute, yet no one now doubts that the legislation of the next session of Congress will come fully up to that standard, should the elections sustain the Radicals. The anxiety of the Radicals to remunerate Mr. Holden for the turmoil, commotion and alienation of our people he has caused, will, perhaps, remove all barriers next session for the gratification of his wishes.

But who told the Chronicle, that Mr. Holden was "at no time in sympathy with the rebellion," or "that he was under a pressure of circumstances little short of duress, which compelled him to subscribe the ordinance of secession, as was the late distinguished Mr. Badger?" Is Mr. Holden himself responsible for this version of a plain story? No matter who gave it to the Chronicle, it is a total perversion of the truth.

We state what will be attested by every intelligent, honest man in the State. No man in North Carolina is so much entitled to the good or ill-fame of teaching our people secession and rebellion as Mr. Holden. No man has done a tithe as much as he has, to ingraft, encourage and foster in our whole people, bitter feeling and hostility to abolitionism, free-soilism and Black Republicanism, as he used to delight to call it. He became a Union man, when he found there was real danger that his secession doctrines were about to prevail. Became a candidate for the Convention with the avowed purpose of sustaining the Southern movement.—Opposed Mr. Craige's ordinance of secession, and urged the adoption of Mr. Badger's ordinance, declaring the independence of the State from all former obligations to the United States, as did Mr. Badger, Mr. Graham and all the conservative members of that body, but finally, for the sake of unanimity, voted for the secession ordinance, and signed it with a new gold pen, which, it is said, he declared he intended to preserve to generations, as a memento of the great act; which action he afterwards approved and endorsed, in his newspaper, the Standard, of that date.

On to-morrow, we will publish the official proceedings of the State Convention of 1861 and the comments of Mr. Holden, then editor of the Standard, on the passage of the ordinance of secession.

This article, and the article of to-morrow, we will mark and send to the Washington Chronicle, and ask their publication, as a matter of simple justification for the action of the U. S. Senate, in rejecting Mr. Holden's appointment as Minister to San Salvador.

Nevertheless, we repeat our former statement, that President Johnson has not made a more popular appointment since he has been in office, than the appointment of Mr. Holden to San Salvador. We have not heard any citizen of the State express any opposition to it, but, on the contrary, every one wanted his appointment confirmed and desired him to accept.

The Radical Plot.

The Louisiana plot, which has just been squelched by the President, is simply part of a grand conspiracy, formed by the leading radicals, North and South, by which they hope to retain, consolidate and perpetuate the powers in Congress which they have usurped; embracing, substantially, all the powers of the Government.

If, by means of such bogus conventions as this one in Louisiana, composed in good part and engineered by Northern adventurers, they can get new legislatures elected in two or three of the Southern States, so as to get the constitutional amendment "ratified" by those States between now and next December, they will be prepared then, when Congress re-assembles, for acts of still more daring usurpation. By fair means or foul, they are determined to prevent the election of a conservative President in 1868, and they are equally determined to keep the Southern States deprived of representation in Congress till that time. If by fomenting such riots as this in New Orleans, they can create a pretext for denouncing the Southern people as disloyal, and as enemies to the negroes, so as to have pretexts for disfranchising them, it will be so much toward the success of their plot. Happily for the country, the President fully understands it, and will continue to take the proper means to defeat it.

Col. O. R. Funsten, senior surviving officer of Ashby's command, publishes a card requesting the surviving members of that command to meet in Winchester on the 11th of August, to take measures for removing the bodies of General Turner and Captain Richard Ashby to Winchester, and to erect a monument to their memory.

Letter from Judge Howard.

TARBORO', N. C., July 30, 1866.

MESSRS. PELL & GALES—

Dear Sirs:—In justice to myself and those who voted with me for the "ordinance to change the jurisdiction of the Courts and the rules of pleading therein," I send you my reply to Mr. Moore.

I see, with regret, that Mr. Moore has stricken from his remarks, as spoken, the paragraph alluding pleasantly to myself, and admitting the ordinance "to be more just than any he had seen," and that he has chosen to intensify the bitterness of his speech, and direct it point-blank at the ordinance and its supporters.

Opinions, at entire variance, may be honestly entertained. Imputations, therefore, are very liable to be unjust, and a sweeping use of them is always ungenerous. In this instance, I think there were reasons that should have restrained Mr. Moore.

In the first place, as the leader of the majority, Mr. Moore had induced the Convention to consider and ordain a new Constitution, although he well knew that our present Constitution was in force and that it recognized no Convention not called by Legislative authority, and although he knew that the Convention had terminated its original functions, by a full compliance with the requisitions of the authority by which it was called.

In the second place, under Mr. Moore's advice, the Convention had broken a clear, Constitutional obligation of the State with myself and others; and he had afterwards been supported strongly for one of the positions thus vacated.

Whether these two acts were breaches of the obligation to support the Constitutions of the State and United States or not, is immaterial.—Gentlemen of as much age, legal experience, learning and ability as Mr. Moore, believe them to be so; and yet no one occupying a position approaching that of Mr. Moore, has ever hurled at him such imputations as those contained in many parts of his published speech.

Unless Mr. Moore claims to be infallible, I think the instances cited above should have stayed his denunciations of the many supporters of the ordinance who usually followed his leadership; and that a feeling of delicacy towards myself, it no kinder consideration, should have saved me and my course from such bitter invective.

The debate was a pleasant one, and left no bitterness with me. I have thought it best to preserve both the matter and tone of my speech as spoken. I must, therefore, ask the publication of this letter. Yours Respectfully,

GEORGE HOWARD.

REMARKS OF
MR. HOWARD, OF EDGECOMBE,

Delivered in Convention on the Ordinance to Change the Jurisdiction of the Courts, &c., in reply to Mr. Moore, of Wake.

MR. PRESIDENT:—I was not in the hall at the time of my appointment as Chairman of the committee on the stay law. Had I been, I should have declined the proffered honor.—Believing that the only proper work of the Convention had been accomplished, and having voted twice for its adjournment, while I felt it my duty to cheerfully aid in such work as it might resolve to do, I did not deem it incumbent upon me to attempt a leading part in any of its proceedings.

Entertaining these views, I took no part at first in the proceedings of the Committee, but on Saturday last, finding that no acceptable proposition had been suggested, at the solicitation of delegates of all parties, I turned my attention seriously to the consideration of the subject; and with investigation and reflection, came a deep interest in the question and a firm conviction that we had a high and imperative duty to discharge.

Fully aware of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States and the State, my first thought was necessarily expended in their consideration. The questions presented themselves, is there no limit to the Constitutional power of the creditor over the debtor? Although war and confiscation and accumulated interest may make the debtor powerless for present compliance, must he be left entirely at the mercy of his creditor? With no circulating medium, no market, must the State permit the general sacrifice of the property of her citizens? Does the duty to leave unimpaired the contract extend so far as to exclude all power to preserve the great industrial interests of the land from present destruction? Cannot the Legislative power adopt the maxim of equity and justice, that time is not of the essence of a contract, and grant indulgence, while carefully guarding the rights and, in some respects, improving the remedies of the creditor? To these questions I found a response in the words of Chief Justice Taney, in the case of Bronsen vs Kinzie: "There must reside in every State the power to regulate the remedy so as to enable it to preserve its citizens from unjust and harassing litigation, and to protect them in those pursuits which are necessary to the existence and well-being of every community,—a power to be exercised according to its own views of policy and humanity."

If these words mean anything, they clearly concede to the Legislative power, under some circumstances, the right to consider the condition of the people, their great want and need of indulgence, the power to adopt the best mode of preserving the rights of creditors generally, by so regulating collections that much may be realized for the benefit of many, and not all be sacrificed for the gain of a few avaricious, merciless men; and above all, the duty to preserve the commercial, agricultural and social interests of the State from violent disturbance and utter prostration.

This being so, the plain duty of every delegate is to weigh this question in its three-fold aspect: public sentiment, its demand and determination; the present law, its confusion and injustice to creditors, and need of amendment; the public weal, our duty to preserve it; and after so doing, to answer for himself this simple question: Shall I vote for this ordinance from motives of high public policy, or to weaken and destroy the rights of creditors and increase the present impolitic and dishonest tendency to repudiation? or shall I vote against it because I believe it unconstitutional and impolitic, or because it stands in the way of my own selfish purposes? I shall not follow the example of the delegate from Wake. I shall ascribe to no one base and unworthy motives, whatever course he may pursue.

In the first place, then, what is the condition of the public mind? Firm in favor of the honest discharge of all honest obligations, but equally firm in its determination that there shall be no merciless sacrifice of property, that justice as well as law shall be recognized in the land—firm in favor of the enforcement of the indebtedness of the country, with moderate and just indulgence, but with a strong and increasing tendency to practical repudiation, should that indulgence be denied. And so fully is this recognized by this Convention, I am sure that nine-tenths of us feel the only practical question to be, shall we adopt an ordinance, plain, comprehensive, and just alike to creditor and debtor, or shall we still retain a law incomprehensible and unjust to all? Are there ten delegates here who would vote for a repeal of all laws granting indulgence? Would one-fifth of the voters of the State sanction such repeal? Every delegate knows they would no. If we are the representatives of the people, in fact, as well as name, what is our duty—our duty not as theoretical moralists, but as practical statesmen? Is it not to execute their will, by making clear that which is confused—by effecting their wishes, so far as we can, consistently with the ends of justice and the rights of all—by preserving their interests from wanton sacrifice, while recalling them to a due sense of the binding virtue of their obligations?

Mr. President, a strict adherence to principle I regard as the best rule of expediency as well as morals; but there may be much diversity of opinion as to what constitutes such adherence. The delegate from Wake seems to think the highest moral utterances without influence comport best with his idea of a legislator's duty; but on questions of temporary policy, in a Republic, this is not a legislator's true part, in my judgment. Public sentiment, the probable consequences, should all be weighed, and that course taken, which is best calculated for the ultimate preservation of public virtue and which is the highest that can be enforced.—And no fairer illustration could be offered than the present. Take the advice of the delegate from Wake, and you will arouse a feeling in the people that will threaten if not effect repudiation—that will disregard the injunctions of law, unless backed by military power—that will crop out in mobs and riots;—and your next Legislature will abolish imprisonment for debt, abolish one term of the Superior and Supreme Courts, and generally make "confusion worse confounded." On the other hand, discharge your duty practically and a moderate indulgence will bring with time a due sense of justice, and a happy return to our former high position for honesty and industry.

In the second place, let us compare this ordinance with the present law. In doing so, I shall only speak of three of its leading provisions. I deem only this much necessary, as I hope I have succeeded in being clear and explicit, and that delegates can well understand the purport of the report.

By the present law, the creditor is not allowed to collect anything until the Fall of 1868 and then only a fifth. This is palpably unjust to all who are dependent on money invested for their support, for how will they avail themselves of their means in '67 and '68 without great sacrifice? It adds fresh care to the widows and orphans and all who as Guardians would befriend them. It affects injuriously the best interests of the State, by withholding the means of education from many of her children, thereby lessening the intelligence and future usefulness of her citizens. This ordinance proposes a remedy. In the Spring of 1867 creditors generally receive one tenth, infants one-fifth—in 1868 all receive one-fifth—in 1869 all receive one-half. Does this not cure the evil?—And will its effect be to injure the creditor? Is it not for his benefit, insuring him, as a means of livelihood, a liberal proportion of his funds? At the same time preserving that indulgence, which every just and merciful man feels is due, by reason of the cause which has brought on our people their great financial distress.

By the present law, should the debtor fraudulently convey his property, no proceedings can be had until judgement and sale under execution,—time and opportunity being thus offered as temptations to fraud. By this ordinance the creditor may proceed to enforce his rights so soon as the debtor attempts the wrong.

By the present law, executors are allowed four years, without security, to settle estates, during which time creditors and legatees have no remedy to check or thwart any secret system of fraud. By this ordinance, either is authorized to call at stated periods on the executor to answer for the due administration of his trust.

It will thus be seen that the main features of this ordinance are for the benefit of the creditor. I know it may be said by the delegate from Wake that in his opinion it is still an abridgement of his rights under the the Constitution. In theory it may be, in practice it will not be. The creditor plants himself on the inviolability of his contract. The debtor pleads the mighty sweep of unforeseen events, with confiscation and general ruin. The creditor demands the letter of the law, and insists that he is entitled thereto. The debtor asserts the right and justice of liberal indulgence, and all know that practically he can accomplish it. Let us adjust this matter as a fair compromise. Let the creditor receive his instalments and look cheerfully forward. Let the debtor, in the assurance of time for honest, manly effort, hopefully and trustfully lend his energies to a fair fulfilment of his contracts.

In the third place, I come to the last view of this question, the public weal. This I deem of higher importance than any consideration for either debtor or creditor as such. It is said by those who would have "the law to take its course," that without indulgence, the indebtedness would be sooner settled, that progress would be greater, that the State would move more rapidly on the road to prosperity. This might be so, but how? Immediately your Courts would be filled with suits; soon your markets would be glutted with land; the places consecrated by childhood, the dear homestead, the burial places of your "loved and lost," would pass under the Sheriff's hammer for a song, to speculators and land-jobbers. Emigration, like a flood, would sweep over the State, bringing capital and labor, and enterprise; and soon the State might be wealthy and great. But where would North Carolinians be? The great body of them would disappear beneath the inflowing tide, or become wanderers to distant places; a few would be left, with material prosperity, sad contemplators of the desolation of their neighbors and friends, and a few would revel in wealth greedily and joyfully gathered amid the ruins of the fortunes of their own kith and kin. God forbid that my vote should ever inaugurate such progress! In the future, as in the past, my sympathies are for North Carolinians; and if my vote or influence can give them a chance to rebuild their fallen fortunes, to clear themselves of the incubus of debt, to make glad once more the old familiar places, preserving alike their interests, their society and their integrity, it shall never be wanting.

I have thus, Mr. President, briefly stated the considerations, that induced the Committee to recommend this ordinance, and caused me to become its strenuous advocate. The committee would have preferred a section discriminating between old and new debts. I inclined to such a provision myself. But believing that an ordinance, adopting a general system, applicable alike to all and just under existing circumstances to creditors and debtors, by which time would be given for commerce and industry to readjust themselves and for capital to be introduced and markets created, ought to be and could be constitutionally upheld, at my suggestion it was not inserted. I have been notified that such a provision will be offered as an amendment. If so, the Convention will insert it at the peril of the ordinance.

I am happy to find that in introducing this ordinance I have given such general satisfaction, and that so few amendments have been suggested. I expected severe criticism, but even the delegate from Wake compliments the draft and admits the law to be more just than any law of similar character heretofore offered to our Legislative assemblies. If so, that is an end of the controversy. A law of the kind the Convention will leave in existence or adopt—shall we have the worst or best?

THE radical destructives in St. Louis are deliberately preparing for a reproduction of the bloody scenes that were enacted on Monday in New Orleans. Under the secret orders of Governor Fletcher, companies of negro soldiers are organizing in that city. The organization is conducted in secret, and the black battallions of radical diabolism are drilled in the darkness of night. They are armed with muskets and bayonets, and receive pay, if they are paid at all, from the pockets of the radical destructives who have their arms to the elbows in the public treasury, and mean to keep them there, even by the aid ot bayonets in the hands of ignorant, unreasoning savages.

That there will be bloodshed in St. Louis and other parts of Missouri, if the plots of the revolutionary faction to "manage" the election are suffered to proceed, there cannot be a reasonable doubt. It is precisely what the revolutionists are preparing and intend to bring about. The rapid change of public sentiment that has taken place and is still proceeding in that state has divested them of all hope of carrying the fall election by fair means. They are preparing, therefore, to inaugurate the alternative of violence—to accomplish by bayonets and butchery what they can not hope to achieve by the peaceful process of the ballot. Such is the wicked desperation of revolutionary radicalism, as now exhibited in Missouri.—Chicago Times.

THE NATIONAL UNION BUSINESS COLLEGE
WASHINGTON, D. C.

Offers superior advantages for a thorough Business Education.

The course of instruction embraces Commission, Importing, Jobbing, Retailing, Bank and other Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Arithmetic, Correspondence, Spencerian Penmanship and Business Practice.

PENMANSHIP is taught by Henry C. Spencer, the leading author of this system, and celebrated as the Editor of the "Spencerian Key to Practical Penmanship," adopted by nearly all first class Colleges as the standard of criticism. Unusual facilities are here presented for acquiring this valuable art.

The system of "BUSINESS PRACTICE," originated and successfully taught by the Proprietor, receives his special attention. This is the most valuable part of the course. Here the student applies his theoretical knowledge. He buys and sells representative mdse, makes out notes, drafts, invoices, &c., deposits College money in the College Bank, and checks it out as his business requires. Becoming, in turn, Retailer, Wholesale, Forwarder, Banker, he soon acquires a knowledge of business forms, learns to compose and condense the history of every transaction and thinks for himself. He is thus prepared for actual business.

Full scholarship, good for review at any time, with Life Membership in this Union of Colleges extending to the principal cities, only $45. Books and stationery extra.

BATTLE'S DIGEST.

The Digest of all the reported law cases in North Carolina, from the earliest period to the present year, is now nearly ready for the binder. It will consist of about 1200 pages, including the table of cases, &c.—The book has been so arranged that it can be bound in one volume, or in two, according to the preference of the purchaser.

The cost of publication has been greater than was expected, in consequence of the book being larger, and it is ascertained that the author cannot afford to charge less than $15 for the volume or volumes of the Law, and $10 for the Equity volume to be paid on or before the delivery of the volumes respectively. The work, though containing much more matter, will cost but little more in currency, than was formerly charged in gold or its equivalent for the aggregate of Iredell's and Jones's Digest.

When a purchaser wants an interleaved copy, he will so state in his order for the work. There will be an additional price of one dollar for such copy.

We have consented to act as agents for Judge Battle in the sale of the Digest, and now solicit immediate orders, accompanied with directions as to how the book shall be bound, &c.

The printing of the Equity volume will be commenced without delay.

PROSPECTUS.

This company owns by warranty title nearly fifteen thousand acres of mineral lands, situated in the counties of Chatham, Moore, Rockingham and Stokes, on the waters of Deep and Dan Rivers, in North Carolina, which abound in plentiful deposits of coal, copper, iron, salt, and, there is every reason to believe from general and surface indications, petroleum or coal oil.

The services of two practical and efficient men, experienced in boring for oil, and stimulated by a long course of success in Venango county, Pennsylvania, were secured by the company several months since and they are now on the lands, with the requisite force, tools, steam engine and machinery, boring a well with very flattering prospects of success. The organization of this company effected some time since has now been perfected in legal form, by act of incorporation, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $5 each.

By reference to the valuable and laborious reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and Commodore Wilkes, U. S. Navy, every one interested will be enabled to judge of the value of the large area of territory secured by the North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Co.

It is well known that a superior article of bituminous coal is now being mined in the Deep river coal region, where a portion of the lands are situated, and this company owns property known to be equal if not superior to any on which shafts have been sunk. Copper, iron and salt also abound, and the attention of capitalists has already been directed to this section on account of its value for the above minerals.

Below are given a few extracts from the journals showing that there is no good reason why there should not be as large quantities of oil in the "Old North State" as in other States.

Oil has been struck in Overton county, Tennessee, on the north line of that State, about midway from its eastern border, eighteen miles from the Cumberland mountains.—Christian (Richmond) Observer.

OIL WELLS IN WEST VIRGINIA.—The Parkersburg Times gives an astonishing statement of the yield of wells in the region thereabout, consisting of Wood, Wirt, Ritchie and other counties, viz: Burning Springs, 2,500 barrels per day; White Oak, 1,500; Lick Run, 300; Horse Neck, 150; and of the several wells on Hughes river, 6,000 barrels per day. The quality is said to be remarkably fine. The Times considers the oil of West Virginia the best yet discovered.

THE OIL EXCITEMENT IN ILLINOIS.—The oil excitement in Clark county is still high. Some eight or ten derricks are up and at work. The deepest well is only 325 feet, with a fair yield of oil. Some of the other wells have struck oil and gas at from 70 to 100 feet.—Much time and money will be spent this summer in the thorough development of the oil resources of Clark county. Men of capital and experience seem confident that oil will be found in large quantities, and are willing to test their faith by a free expenditure in developing the lands. The first company who bored on the land of Hon. T. B. Young, are now engaged in trying to raise the anger which was lost last fall. The Eastern Illinois Company will begin work in a few days twelve miles southwest of the first well. The prospect in that locality is good.—Chicago Tribune.

It is known that after a few months boring in the vicinity of Lynchburg, a large vein of oil was struck and a productive well is now in successful operation. This is on the same line with, and about 80 miles from, the company's first well on Dan River, where the indications both general and particular are similar.

In order to have sufficient means to develop this valuable property in such a manner as to insure success, the Directors have authorized 10,000 shares of the capital stock to be sold to raise a working capital, and subscriptions for that number or any part thereof will be received.

An uncommonly favorable opportunity for investment is thus afforded, as those who choose to buy stock under this offer will have the advantage of an equal footing with the original corporators in an enterprise which, after the example of the immense profits realized in those of a similar character in other States, though in many respects on less favorable conditions than this, (compare the extent, cheapness and fee simple title of the basis of operations here offered) gives reasonable assurance of the most lucrative results. In many instances in sections of less favorable oil localities, shares have advanced in a few days from $2 or $5 to $20 and even $50, and poor men who made small investments realized fortunes.

Further information may be had at the office of the company, one door north of the Court House, Greensboro, N. C., where books of subscription are now open.

By order of the Directors.

JONES' SPRINGS.—THE EXERCISES ON THE 8TH.—The following letters have been sent us for publication, by the committee of Ladies appointed to make the necessary arrangements for erecting a monument in memory of Miss Lee, daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee, at Jones' Springs, Warren Co., on the 8th. inst. The occasion will doubtless be a most interesting one, and we regret that circumstances put it out of our power to accept the kind invitation to be present.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Raleigh, July 25, 1866.

Mrs. Jos. S. Jones, Mrs. Col. Heck, and others, Committee: LADIES:—I have received your polite note of the 20th. inst., inviting me to be present at the Warren White Sulphur Springs on the 8th. of August, on the occasion of erecting a monument in memory of the late Miss Lee, daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

I thank you for this opportunity you offer me, of which I propose to avail myself, of exhibiting my respect for the great and good father and amiable daughter.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant,
JONATHAN WORTH.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 24th., 1866.

To Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Heck, and others, Committee: LADIES:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your kind invitation, on behalf of the citizens of Warren, to participate in the solemnities consequent upon the erection of the proposed monument to the daughter of our beloved chieftain, in our recent struggle for separation and independence.

The noble sentiment which actuates your citizens in expressing their high appreciation of his distinguished services, by a testimonial so delicate and touching, is worthy of great commendation.

I thank you for your kind remembrance of myself, and if possible, will be present; but if circumstances prevent, my heart and best wishes will be with you on that occasion.

I have the honor to be, very thankfully,
Your obedient servant,
BRYAN GRIMES.

RALEIGH, July 25th., 1866.

To Mrs. Joseph S. Jones, Miss Brownlow, and others, Committee: LADIES:—Your highly appreciated favor of the 17th. inst., has just come to hand, and I hasten to acknowledge its receipt.

Need I add, that it will be both convenient and pleasant for me to meet the generous and patriotic daughters of Warren, and aid them in erecting their sad tribute to the daughter of our great and illustrious chief, whose plume I have followed under such varied fortune!

Had the men of the South proved as true, unselfish and devoted as her daughters, we would not now be called on to weep for those,

* * * "Who vainly brave
Died for a cause they could not save."

Thanking you for your kind invitation,
I remain,
Very respectfully,
Your ob't servant,
WM. R. COX.

HOME MANUFACTURES.—The Wilmington Journal notices a number of new flat cars, received at the depot of the W. & M. R. R. Co., manufactured by Mr. Thos. C. McIlhenny, at his steam saw mills and manufactory, a few miles below the city, on the Cape Fear. The style in which they are made is simple and plain, but very substantial and excellently adapted for hard usage.

A GLIMPSE BEHIND THE MASK.—The North Carolina Presbyterian says: A colored Baptist minister at Beaufort, S. C., writes to the Christian Record, "Some of our white ministerial friends do more in the way of procuring farms and keeping our poor race in ignorance, than anything else. They pretend, when they are North, that they would come down here and do anything for our race in the way of enlightening them; but instead of this, when they see the cotton bag, they forget all about Christ and Him crucified and the saving of souls." Of certain Northern Merchants, he says: "All they wish to do is, to teach what President Lincoln has done, and pat the colored man on the shoulder with the left hand, while with the right hand they catch hold of his pocket-book. And when they have got the last cent from him, their friendship suddenly ceases. Then he is only a nigger."

A CORRESPONDENT of the New York Herald, who has been for some months travelling through the South, gives that journal, in a lengthy communication, the results of his observation and experience. We make the following extracts, as containing a great deal of truth, pointedly and sensibly told:

"The statements about the disloyalty of the Southern people which appear from time to time in the radical newspapers are half of them fabricated by agents of the Freedmen's Bureau, anxious for personal reasons to perpetuate an offensive and utterly unnecessary institution, and the other half are grossly exaggerated for a set purpose. In town after town that I have visited, I have heard from the leading citizens nothing but a thorough acceptance of the situation and a heartily expressed desire to let by-gones be by-gones, and to start again under the pale of the Constitution. The fixed impression left upon my mind is that either the bulk of the Southern people are the most accomplished liars and hypocrites on the face of the globe, or that they are loyal to the government and to the country under the changed order of things. * * * *

You will perceive that in speaking of the loyalty of the South I have thus far referred only to those men who were original secessionists and have had the secesh whipped out of them. I have made no allusion to the so-called Union men, and I now approach that subject with some diffidence, for it seems to me one on which the Northern people—even those most friendly to the South—have hardly taken a correct view. At first sight it certainly looks like poetical justice that the men who opposed rebellion and suffered for it should have the handling of the spoils now that the rebellion is crushed. But practically, under a free republican government, this is impossible. It is a disagreeable fact to state, but the truth is, the Union men of the South comprise neither the education, the intellect, nor the influence of the country. I could name striking exceptions to this statement, but I am now generalizing and speaking of the Union men as a class. To place all machinery of State government throughout the South, in the hands of these men, would be an act of tyranny, such as no Northern State would tolerate. They are objectionable, not so much on account of their opinions as on personal grounds. Many who now claim to be stanch Union men merely kept out of the fight through cowardice, and held themselves in readiness to shout with the winning side. Had the Confederacy succeeded, who more thorough secessionists than they would have been at this moment?"

It seems that the smallest possible knowledge of human nature and the slightest acquaintance with the teachings of history should have been sufficient to show that a policy toward the South of "implacable resentment for the past, and unconquerable distrust for the future"—a policy dividing the people into victors and vanquished, ever evincing a desire to punish, disgrace, and humiliate, however grateful it might be to partisan malignity—would not be likely to bring the two sections into harmony, or restore the devotion of the South to the old Government. Neither can it be honestly supposed that the exclusion of the Southern States from a voice in the councils of the Union is calculated to increase their love for that Union; nor will spurning from the doors of Congress, of even their loyal representatives, be deemed the best method of encouraging loyalty. If we of the North really desire the people of the South to become once more true to the Government of their fathers, let us give them some interest in its concerns; if we wish them to cheerfully obey the laws, let us establish some claim to their obedience by giving them a voice in their enactment, by welcoming the loyal men whom they send to represent them in the councils of the nation.

The policy of exclusion and alienation, so far pursued, has, to some extent, destroyed the feelings of kindness and trust manifested by the rebel armies, at the time of their surrender, and must eventually debase the character of the people, and wholly destroy their capacity for self-government, a result fraught with untold calamity to the whole Republic. How antagonistic this policy of vengeance and alienation is to the principles of popular government; how it must weaken our power in case of a foreign war; how the doubt, uncertainty, and distrust it engenders injure our financial position and retard the material prosperity and developement of the South, must be evident to every candid thinking mind; and its speedy and complete abandonment must be the devout wish and earnest endeavor of every enlightened mind.—National Intelligencer.

The Plunder of Sherman's March.

There is no estimating the desolation which a gigantic army spreads in its hostile march through a country, even under the discipline of the most conscientious and elevated leadership. The Southern people, through whose States the colossal march of Sherman carried its inevitable calamities of fire and death, with all the crimes and abominations which ugly passion in such masses of men engenders, are much condemned by their conquerors, for the bitter denunciations which they have sometimes invoked, while smarting under their calamities, upon the Northern people. We have, on the contrary, often wondered at their patience and their silence, and especially have we thus felt as often as specimens of the trophies so abounding in this city, brought hither by Sherman's returning victorious troops, have fallen under our observation.—Nat. Intelligencer.

The Steamship Moravian is in, with dates to the 27th.

The armistice between Prussia and Austria expires to-day, and will probably be renewed, but there is no indication, as yet, of this being done.

The English government has announced its intention of prolonging the suspension of the Habeas Corpus in Ireland.

The Times says that the armistice did not come too soon to save the Austrians from final catastrophe.—The combatants are now resting, irrespective of position. There are well-grounded hopes that the truce will be prolonged into a definite peace. On the 25th., a suspension of hostilities was agreed upon between the Italians and Austrians.

On the 23rd., the Italians had a fight with the Austrians near Bonges, which town they carried by assault. They also carried Lorics by assault.

The German States North of the Main are to form a union under the guidance of Prussia. The German States South of the Main to form an independent union.

The Germania, with dates to the 25th. is in. We condense the news:

Austria has accepted the basis of peace proposed by Prussia, and in substance given in previous despatch, published above.

Prussia intends annexing territory containing 3,000,000 of people.

Mantuffel insists on the immediate payment of 25,000,000 of florins, threatening, in event of non-compliance, to deliver Frankfort up to pillage. This has been refused, and the city has asked the intervention of Napoleon and the English Cabinet.

The New Orleans Riot.

The following letter from Gen. Sheridan, to Gen. Grant, shows who were primarily responsible for the late bloody occurrence in New Orleans:

NEW ORLEANS, August 1st, 1866.—Gen. U. S. Grant, Washington.—You are doubtless aware of the serious riot which occurred in this city on the 30th.

A political body, calling itself the convention of 1864, met on the 30th, for, as it is alleged, the purpose of remodeling the present constitution of the State.

The leaders were political agitators and revolutionary men, and the action of the convention was liable to produce breaches of the public peace. I had made up my mind to arrest the head men if the proceedings of the convention were calculated to disturb the tranquility of the department, but I had no cause for action until they committed an overt act.

About forty whites and blacks were killed and one hundred and sixty wounded. Everything is now quiet, but I deem it best to maintain a military supremacy in the city for a few days, until the affair is fully investigated. I believe the sentiment of the general community is great regret at this unnecessary cruelty, and that the police could have made any arrest they saw fit without sacrificing lives.

P. H. SHERIDAN,
Major-General Commanding.

A St. Louis miss of fourteen eloped with a young Italian, and cheated a minister into marrying them by pasting a slip of paper with eighteen written on it in her shoe, and when questioned as to her age, saying she was over eighteen.

The First Dose Relieved.

Wm. Verrel, Esq., Matoaca, Va., says, "I was afflicted with the Liver complaint for two years, sometimes so bad that I could not lie upon my left side for one minute, nor could I walk but a short distance without stopping to rest. I tried several kinds of patent medicines but found no relief. I also tried the skill of the most eminent Physicians but still found no relief. I was at last induced to try your Pills [THE SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS,] and from the first dose I found relief, and continued to mend until I was perfectly cured. I am now a well man."

A New Era In Medicine!

☞ Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

☞ Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

☞ Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

J. S. JAMES SMEITER,
Notary Public,
Wall Street, New York.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS,
116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY,
New York, April 7, 1865. 27 Pitt Street.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY,
119 Georick Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

I have over 200 such Testimonals

MAGGIEL'S FEVER AND AGUE

PILLS!!

THESE famous remedies, known throughout the great West of the United States for their extraordinary cures of

are now thoroughly introduced in the State of North Carolina, and can be obtained of all enterprising, first class druggists.

They act as a tonic to all debilitated systems, taken in doses of

before meals, and should be found in every family residing in miasmatic districts.

To any skeptic or one who does not believe in these marvelous preparations,

A Box Will be sent Free

if he is not cured with one and not more than two boxes, no charge will be made. The price of the Pills is high—say but as they are a perfect cure without trouble or inconvenience, the charge is reasonable enough.

50 PER BOX;

Address J. MAGGIEL, M. D., 43 Fulton St.
New York.

CAUTION.

Watch carefully and guard yourselves vigilantly against counterfeits. I have just suppressed a notorious counterfeit in Wisconsin, after much trouble and expense. Purchase of only first class druggists and never of peddlers or traveling dealers.

VALUABLE FLORIDA FARM FOR SALE.

I offer my tract of land for sale, lying in Columbia County, four miles west of Lake City, Fla., containing Twelve Hundred Acres.

Three hundred of which is cleared and in fine condition for cultivation. A good portion of the tract both cleared and uncleared, is fine hammock land, rendering it quite a valuable tract. Besides, it has on it a two story framed dwelling, with nine rooms and a piazza sixty feet long, double kitchen, smoke house, negro cabins, corn cribs, stables, carriage house, several large granaries, wagon sheds, three wells of water, [one of them the best water in all that section of country,] sixty orange trees in the yard, and an orchard of two hundred peach trees.

The location is a pleasant one and as healthy as any part of any other State. All the advantages of this farm combined renders it one of the few really valuable and desirable homes offered for sale.

For further information in regard to terms, etc., address me at Oxford, Granville County, N. C.
